

NORTH-SOUTH RELATIONS. COLONIAL ATTITUDES AND COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT

Politikon – Journal of Political Science

International Association of Political Science Students – IAPSS (Ljubljana)

Deadline for submission:

August 1, 2005.

Contact:

IAPSS, Kongresni trg 12,

1000 Ljubljana, Slovenia;

Tel: +386 / 1 / 2443730;

Fax: +386 / 1 / 2443731;

E-mail: info@iapss.org

Homepage: <http://www.iapss.org>

The articles should be sent to the following address:
politikonjournal@iapss.org

Politikon is an academic journal meant to offer a proper framework for students, under- and postgraduate, who have a special interest in Political Science.

The topic for this number is »North-South Relations. Colonial Attitudes and Cooperation for Development«. The journal welcomes contributions focusing on any aspect of the north-south relations, meaning the term north and south not only geographical locations but also relations between countries with a different economic and political weight (i.e. Russia towards most of CIS Countries).

Contribution may embrace (but shall not be limited to) one of the following aspects:

- Political history of North-South Relations, better if focused on specific countries.
- »They do not know what they really need. We do«. Colonial attitudes of Europe, USA, Russia towards their colonies or subordinated states (Political discourse or case studies).
- Post colonial attitudes, changes in North South Relations and strength relations
- Beyond colonial attitudes, examples of projects of cooperation (case studies are welcome).
- Comparative analysis of some North South attitudes.
- The future of North-South Relations.
- Weak democracies: only in the south?
- Democracy: a concept made for the north?

Requirements for papers are:

- English language
- A half page abstract (not more than 125 words)
- A minimum of 15 pages and a maximum of 25 pages written in Times New Roman, size 12, 1.5 lines
- Bibliography, minimum 5 references